Journey Man (Knights of Black Swan Book 9) By Victoria Danann

- A knight is assigned to endless rotation from one nightmare post to another.
- A lost love is gone, but never forgotten.
- Two estranged people desperately longing for the same things.

Home. And each other.

From New York Times and USA Today Bestselling author, Victoria Danann, who's been called "Queen of Alpha Male Characters" and "Mistress of Paranormal Romance".

WINNER Best Paranormal Romance Series the past three years in a row! - The Paranormal Romance Guild

For five years Glendennon Catch had knocked around the globe as a floater, filling in wherever a team of vampire hunters was down a member. He'd buried six good knights and watched the life take its toll on countless others. He'd drunk his share of whiskey and bedded so many women he would hate to hear the count, but he'd never gotten over his first love. And, if he had a chance for a do-over, he would have put love first.

Elora Rose Storm had spent five years nursing a heavy heart, while on a cross-dimensional mission to campaign for change wherever she found human/animal hybrids being mistreated. She'd seen horrors, righted wrongs where she could, and matured into a powerful witch/demon with altruistic leanings.

After all this time, unbeknownst to each other, both lonely souls are headed home. To Jefferson Unit.

"A roving knight. A runaway girl. Makes for one outstanding story!"- Night Owl Reviews TOP PICK

Lightning Room Reviews...

Glendennon Catch has been one of my favorite characters since we very first saw him introduced. He's James Dean without all the baggage and an added side of astrophysicist-level intelligence. There's this charm about him that wiggles underneath my skin especially deeply when he lets go a rogue growl, just because he can.

Rosie Storm wasn't ever one of my favorite characters. I think mostly because she was just overshadowed by the other star players at the forefront of the stories in which she found herself. Pretty hard to focus on a precocious little girl when her father is Superman and her dad is THE sex demon. But she emerged from childhood straight into a fully realized woman who I began to love in Carnal and she finishes that transition in this book and won my admiration and affection in spades.

The story of how two people who are fated, body, mind and soul, to be together, but who somehow lose each other is an old one. It's a classic one, in fact. And it happens to be one of my favorites. Because of that, I'm often willing to overlook leaps of faith or silly Hallmark transitions to get them back together. But I should have known that Victoria Danann would never employ such trite tactics to tell this piece of these character's stories. She's better than that and she has much better tricks up her sleeves.

This book is classic because Glen and Rosie's love is of that classic variety - pure, strong and unfortunately, taken for granted by both of them. How they find their way back to each other, after having been beat about the head and shoulders by life for 5 years is where they go off book and start telling a brand new story.

And it's beautiful. And powerful, as is befitting of two such intriguing, multi-faceted characters. The soul of this story took me completely off guard. Brought me home to what Danann does so very well - illustrate the human condition with beautifully chosen words that highlight the simple and profound fact that love is life. And life is love.

The definition of a Journeyman is "any experienced, competent but routine worker or performer." I suppose by that definition, Glen is absolutely the journeyman in this story. But because it's a story told by Victoria Danann and because it's a story within the landscape of The Knights of the Black Swan, there is nothing routine about it. It's an adventure with all the very best elements included - raucous laughter, joyful tears, profound discovery and always, love.

From the Inside Flap

I'm so excited to be publishing this installment of Knights of Black Swan. Readers have patiently (sometimes) waited for a dose of what's happening in Loti Dimension. It was so gratifying to write about these characters growing up. Those of you who have followed their maturation have, like me, developed a curious sort of "relationship" with them.

I highly recommend that you read Carnal first as it feeds directly into the story of Journey Man.

As a pupil exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library or even make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's internal or real their pastime. They just do what the educator want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Journey Man (Knights of Black Swan Book 9) can make you feel more interested to read.
