Development Administration By S.A. Palekar

Development is the keyword for the countries who have been moving from traditional towards the modern type, Industrialized society, i.e., from agricultural based-society to an industrialized society. In this book an attempt has been made to present an integrated picture of the Development Administration. The issues chosen to examine are the theoretical constructs in the concepts of Development and Development Administration; features of administration in developed and developing countries; the programme and project management; the planning machinery in India; the public sector; and a range of social and welfare services in India. The book argues that the state has a critical role to play in socio-economic development and it has to face new challenges resulting from liberalization and globalization. The book is intended for the undergraduate and postgraduate students of Public Administration and Political Science.
